NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

The subject of last week's "Guess Who's Here" contest was J. L. Erickson, the winner being Mary Neprad, 401 South Third St.

If Polly wants a cracker, perhaps he can help her out. As to his age, the next oldest inhabitant would have to estimate it, but it is a safe bet that he could give some interesting reminiscences of the latter years of Methuselah. He is slim, wiry, active; with a keen, kindly face and a boy's smile. As Mr. Allen would say, "he came here before they dug the river." He has trained up a boy in the way in which a boy should go, and now he is luxuriating in the age of slippers and books. A persistent reader, he is storing up a wealth of knowledge which enriches the soul but unfortunately cannot be conveyed to posterity by the "last will and testament." He's the only living manufacturer who, having defied a trust, has contributed nothing to the annals of industrial bankruptcy. One cannot contemplate the serenity of his benign face without thanking God for these dear old dads who took us to the woodshed to show us the straight and narrow way. By the way, he's the man who put the axe in—but that would be telling.

DOC SAYS:
SPEAKING WHISTLY, I HAVE EVOLVED THE LATEST PHASE OF CONSERVATION AND COMMEND IT TO THE ATTENTION OF FIFTH HANDERS. I CALL IT "THE CONSERVATION OF CONVERSATION."

We have decided to "gossip" this issue of the White Way. That will afford us an opportunity to pan the participants—in a white way. Flippantly speaking, the dinner was an achievement from soup to nuts. Indeed, the young nuts were triumphantly in evidence, so much so that a stranger might have imagined that the latest industrial acquisition of the board was a nut factory.

The elders dressed the young men up in long trousers, and asked them to theoretically run the town for an hour. The young men strutted valiantly, and said if the fathers would give the boys a dollar bill they would come home with the buns. (Perhaps some of them did.)

Toastmaster Jess Higbee, a saturation of sophistication, declined to display timidity about running the shenanigans. Metaphorically speaking he told The Honorable, The Patriarchs that they might watch the wheels go round provided they kept their fingers out of the cogs. He then introduced a battery of speakers who proceeded to enunciate a ragtime philosophy of business that had the pioneers dancing the new industrial bear cat with what Otto Bosshard would have called eclat, whatever that is.

A number of the "first white settlers" were in the bleachers. White haired or no-haired were they—clean-cut gentlemen whose lives of hard work and clean ambition have left them the clear-eyed strength of wholesome elderly manhood. They had built their industries and raised their boys, and it was with conscious pride that they indulgently watched the youngsters going through their paces.

Of what the really big factors in American business have come to regard as "good business," and his earnest championship of the newly codified ethics of commerce and industry left a pleasant impression that the square deal in its broadest sense is to become the creed of a new business cult. No, friend Albert wasn't grilling the ancients, he was making what T. R. would call a "confession of faith."

"Oh, h—!" said the editor, who monopolized the conversation upon being asked what he thought of what Mr. Graves said.

To a man who has had to quit smoking, Mr. Graves didn't offer much—commercially. Nobody would have believed, had not Mr. Groves solemnly admitted it, that the immediate vicinity of Viroqua was raising a million and a half dollars worth of tobacco a year. However, where there's so much smoke there must be some tobacco. And outside of all that Mr. Graves was bright. His subtle allusion to Sears-Roebuck was more effective than a tirade against the mail order houses would have been. He has a genius for word-crafting and was cleverly entertaining, and we are grateful to the surgeons for not having removed his sense of humor when they got his appendix. Yes, he's been operated—once could tell that by the delicately cruel way in which he paid his respects to our vivisection emporiums. They got his money, but they didn't get his goat. So he's eligible to the Whist club, but probably not to the honor of responding to a toast at that particular banquet. Confidentially, that wasn't Mr. Graves' first pair of long pants.

We can't make a "Yarn of The Town" out of Jim Thompson's toast. Jim said something to somebody. Jim came pretty near saying something to everybody. There were a dozen sermons in that heart to heart talk. We would not associate it with the frivolous strain of this chatty column. There was a text for an editorial in every paragraph of his comment. This is an average town, with average men and women who are addicted to the average of shortcomings. Jim didn't say it was a bad town. He simply passed around the shoes, and perhaps a great many of us tried on a shoe that fitted. He certainly handed out some Jim jam jems.

William F. Hurtzen (Billy Cow) sang the "swan song." And he didn't sing it to "the tune the old cow died on." For he wasn't a bear, he was a bull. For the first time in his life he concluded his remarks without rendering himself liable for contempt of John Utermoeh. With becoming humility he purged his soul of irreverence for the great organization that for the first time had recognized his forensic genius. "I was outside, looking in; now I'm inside, looking out," said The Exalted. Some of Billy's friends thought it was too subtle for the members, who gave it but a passing splutter of handclaps. Of course Billy meant that he would have to look out, now that he was in. But the members understood. They were merely too busy to applaud. You see they, too, are looking out now that Billy is in. Billy conferred a favor upon the banqueters in his prettily phrased recognition of the services of President Doerflinger, and won genuine applause when he said that notwithstanding he was the last speaker he proposed to set the pace for the orators by a practical demonstration of the axiom that "brevity is the soul of wit."

By courtesy of Manager Koppleberger, of the Majestic, Mr. Higbee turkey-trotted an innovation into the dinner in the way of polite vaudeville. These pleasing eccentricities transformed the place into a sort of "dry" cabaret and stirred adventurous memories under the ivory domes of venerable parties who giggled guiltily over whispered reminiscences of "The Days of Real Sport." Thus do grandfathers "wise in their own generation" underestimate the achievements of their children unto the third and fourth generation.

White Way Editor: I read with pleasure your dissertation on "dogs" in last week's issue. The way you pictured my dog, Mike, playing with you until you picked up a brick, and then attacking you so ferociously, was fetching. I really think Mike should have a Carnegie hero medal. Really, you are one of the most graphic and convincing of writers!

Let me quote from your classic commentary:

"Mike, who had been playing good naturedly with me, Mike who had declined to be disagreeable, Mike who was in it for fellowship and fun—did not Mike beat it with his pals?"

"Yes, Mike did not. Mike ruffled up his neck until it was as big as a turkey's brush. Mike's eyes got red,

PASS WEBB BILL OVER TAFT VETO

Senate Over-rides President's Disapproval As Soon As Message is Received

IS CLAIMED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

President's Veto Based on Opinion by Wickersham that Bill Will Not Stand

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The house this afternoon passed the Webb bill, governing interstate shipment of liquor, over the president's veto. The vote was 244 to 95. The senate enacted the measure over Taft's disapproval yesterday, and it now becomes a law.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Webb liquor bill, prohibiting the shipment of liquor into "dry" states was repassed in the senate on Friday, over President Taft's veto, within two hours from the time the president's message of disapproval had been laid before that body.

The veto message reached the senate about 3 o'clock Friday, accompanied by an opinion from Attorney General Wickersham. The president expressed the belief that the measure was clearly unconstitutional because it gave the state the right to interfere with interstate commerce. Efforts will be made today to override the veto in the house. Representative Clayton of Alabama, will move to take up the veto for the purpose of passing the bill over the president's head, as soon as the house convenes.

Like his hair, Mike uttered a low, deep sound of warning, and walked up close to me. Mike kept one eye on that brick and the other on my face, and his look said plainly enough, "Throw it if you dare!"

Say, editor! Confidentially, now, what Mike really said was different. Mike and I play every morning with a chip. I throw it, and Mike runs and gets it. Mike is a hunter, Mike wanted you to throw the brick, so that he could retrieve it.

(Signed) H. CLAY EVENSON.
EDITOR'S NOTE—I never fail to "get even." I'll soon be the guy that put the "even" in "Evenson."

CRABS (By Byers)

MADISON, March 1.—Assemblyman John L. Schnitzler, DePere, has introduced a bill in the legislature providing for a closed season for crayfish, commonly called crabs, which are found in the inland waters of Wisconsin. Mr. Schnitzler represents the implication that seems to be general that his bill is a freak. He claims there is a well-defined industry in crab-fishing, the animals being eaten like lobsters.—News item.

Crabs are of three species—human, saltwater and freshwater. It is impossible to talk about human crabs in language that is fit to eat, and saltwater crabs are too expensive this far from tidewater to be even thought about. This essay therefore will be confined to the freshwater article. Like all proper essays, it must begin with a definition.—The freshwater crab is the animal dearest to the heart of Assemblyman Schnitzler, of DePere. The freshwater crab is an armored animal about four inches over all, with a pair of tinsmith's shears jutting out from each ear. His habitat is under a stone on Uncle Sam's riprapping along the Mississippi, and scientists claim he eats minnows. He swims with the reverse English, like Harry Bolens, advocating progressive principles. The same scientists who claim that he eats minnows say his name is "crayfish," but any small boy knows better. It's crawfish. In winter he is said to be the best bait for bass, but when he is disjointed and strung on a hook after the first of June the only things that can be caught with him are mosquito bites and sunburn. The recording angel is opposed to the crab, because he has to work double-shift when a Watsonian gropes for the armored individual in the baitbox and finds him suddenly attached to his little finger. On the other hand, the crab is a favorite of male zoology students, who pick him from the aquarium and derive much joy from hearing the squeals he evokes from the female students when properly applied as a hair ornament. The crab has hair-trigger disposition, and will pinch anything in reach, like a new policeman. Like dreams, the crab goes by contraries. When he's coming he's going. He goes ahead backing up, like a C. M. & St. P. train, entering La Crosse. Behold the impending dignity of the crab! By legislative enactment he is about to become "vittles."

OWNERSHIP OF ISLAND SETTLED

John P. Salzer Owner of Mississippi River Island According to the Ruling

THE QUESTION TAKEN TO COURT

Milwaukee Railroad Attempted to Oust Alcorn Who Claimed Squatter's Rights

What is believed to be the final settlement of the island controversy carried on between the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company and George Alcorn during the last few years in regard to the ownership of an island opposite Eagle bluff, reached here yesterday in the form of a letter from the United States war department declaring that John P. Salzer of La Crosse is the legal owner.

The island, which formed since 1876, by sedimentation, has been occupied for several years by George Alcorn. The Milwaukee railroad started action to oust him a year ago holding that the property was theirs because of a tax deed held by the company. Alcorn's attorney produced evidence showing that he had paid taxes on the property previous to those of the railroad company and, as twenty years had not elapsed since his last tax payment, he could recover title in the property by payment of the delinquent tax. The litigation was brought before Judge Vance in the circuit court of Winona county.

In the decision rendered by the government officials the property rights are vested in Mr. Salzer because of riparian rights he owns and because of his ownership of the property running parallel to the island on the Minnesota side of the river. When informed of his ownership by Captain W. A. Thompson, government engineer, Mr. Salzer declared that he has made no plans for the use of the island and will permit Mr. Alcorn to retain his home near the upper end of the island.

Among the floral offerings is a bouquet of exquisite beauty sent by members of the Wisconsin legislature.

MUNSON IS REFUSED NEW TRIAL TODAY

A divorce was granted Mrs. Louise Travis from Fred Travis in circuit court this morning. Mrs. Travis alleged non-support and desertion.

A motion for a new trial on the grounds that important evidence was ruled out at the former trial was made in the case of Munson vs. Elick Peterson, but was denied by Judge E. C. Higbee. The case was for libel and was brought by District Attorney Munson of Crawford county, who asked a judgment against Peterson on the grounds that he had injured his reputation by circulating harmful stories to the effect that Munson was guilty of malfeasance in office.

RIVER FALLS TEAM LOSES TO NORMAL

River Falls was a much harder proposition for La Crosse normal last night, but the local boys managed to come out on the long end of the score according to a dispatch received by President Cotton this morning. The final result was 18 to 15, showing that River Falls was considerably improved since it was snowed under here by the tune of 68 to 22. Tonight Coach Carter's men will meet Superior normal at the latter city.

GARMENT WORKERS IN PARTIAL VICTORY

Compromise on Wages But Win Absolutely in Demand for End of Sweatshops

EMPLOYEES ACCEPT OPEN SHOP

All Factories to Work Over-time From Now Until Easter It Is Announced

NEW YORK, March 1.—The 75,000 workers in the clothing trade, those remaining from the 155,000 who left their machines on December 30 to enforce demands for an eight hour workday, sanitary working conditions, abolition of sweatshops and material increases in pay reported back to work today. The strike is over and it was announced that because of the great accumulation of orders on hand every factory in the city would work overtime from now until Easter.

The result is a compromise with the union. They win absolutely on the question of sanitary workshops and abolition of the sweatshops, they compromise on the wage increase. Instead of a flat ten to 25 per cent advance in wages there is an increase of one dollar a week to all weekly workers and a proportionate raise in the rate paid piece workers.

The employers agree to the open shop plan and promise that there will be absolutely no discrimination between the strikers even though they have been members of strike or picketing committees. All cases pending in court dealing with injunctions are to be dropped at once.

The question of hours, which, after the sanitary and wage problem was the most serious matter in dispute, goes to arbitration.

CRIPPEN'S COUNSEL ARRESTED

LONDON, March 1.—Arthur Newton, a prominent solicitor, was arrested by Scotland Yard detectives this afternoon charged with being in a conspiracy to defraud a client of $115,000. Newton was counsel for Dr. Crippen, who was convicted and executed for the murder of his wife. Crippen was apprehended after an over-sea chase, when he escaped to Canada with his girl office assistant.

PROHIBITS AUTOMATIC GUNS

MADISON, Wis., March 1.—Senator Paul Huston is opposed to automatic firearms. He is the author of a bill that make it unlawful to use in hunting birds or animals of any kind any automatic, auto-loading, or self-loading shot gun. The argument is made in favor of the bill that if such firearms are used within a few years all birds and game will be exterminated.

TRAIN KILLS LAWYER

REFUSES OFFER OF CABINET POSITION

New Jersey Chancellor Said to Have Declined Attorney-Generalship With Thanks

TRENTON, N. J., March 1.—That Chancellor Edwin Robert Walker, legal advisor to President-elect Wilson in the preparation of the anti trust bills known as the "seven sisters" was offered the attorney generalship of the United States, and was forced to decline, was learned here today. The chancellor made it plain to the president-elect that, while he appreciated the honor, he preferred his position as head of the New Jersey judiciary. As soon as this became known, the wisecracks accepted as a fact that the next attorney will be James C. McReynolds, Tennessee lawyer and buster of the Tobacco trust.

TAFT GIVES ROSTRON MEDAL

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Captain A. H. Rostrom, the English sea commander of the Carpathia who rescued over 700 of the Titanic's passengers, received fitting recognition of his bravery today in the east room of the White house. ## URGE DRASTIC LAW FOR MONEY TRUST

Pujo Committee Declares Combine Exists and Recommend Two Drastic Laws

ONE AIMED AT STOCK EXCHANGE

Would Bar Telephone, Mails and Telegraph to Fraudulent Transactions

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Carrying a recommendation that the inquiry be continued at the next session of congress, the final report of the Pujo money trust investigating committee was made to the house yesterday. It was signed by the seven democratic members of the committee. A statement of the minority members' views also was filed.

Control and regulation of clearing house associations, with sharp prohibition of many of their present practices; drastic regulations for the New York stock exchange, and twenty-two separate rules aimed to prevent the concentration and control of money and credit are the three feature recommendations of the report. The exchange is savagely condemned as a huge gambling institution.

Drastic Bills Proposed

Two bills, one providing numerous amendments to the national banking act, and the other denying the use of the mails, telephone and telegraph in the furtherance of fraudulent and harmful transactions on stock exchanges, accompany the report. Other bills to carry out other recommendations will be prepared but the report states that the committee has not had time to prepare them to be printed with the report.

The main part of the report is devoted to proving that there is a definite combination having for its purpose the control of many and credit.

Glass to Continue

It will probably be up to Representative Glass of Virginia to follow up the Pujo committee's finding that there is a money trust. It was generally believed here today that the Virginia congressman would head the banking and currency committee of the new house. Pujo retires March 4. Glass has conferred at length with President-elect Wilson and is believed to have received the new executive's orders as to currency reform, which reform it is known Wilson regards as second only in importance to readjustment of the tariff.

Today Glass stated that an "intermediate" report of his subcommittee, which has been investigating the Aldrich currency plan and general banking reforms was being prepared. The Glass report is to supplement that of the Pujo subcommittee in outlining the new democratic currency program. The Pujo and Glass reports are to be the superstructure upon which early legislation will be founded.

Bills at Extra Session

Representative Glass stated today that he would probably have some bills prepared by April 1st, ready for submission to the extra session.

The money trust investigation is ended, however. This is the almost unanimous belief in the house, despite recommendations of the democratic representative of the Pujo body that it be continued. Democratic leaders today openly voiced opposition to continuance of the investigation.

The line of freezing temperature this morning extends from northern New England states southwestward through northern New York, the lower Ohio valley, northwestern Louisiana, central Texas, southern New Mexico, Arizona and thence northward near the Pacific coast. Zero temperatures are recorded in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and the Canadian northwest.

Moderate depressions are central over the Atlantic states, in the upper Mississippi valley and Colorado and high pressure areas are located in Oklahoma and Texas, and in Montana and the adjacent Canadian territory. Light rain or snow has occurred at most stations from the Rocky mountain districts to the Atlantic coast and snow continues at a few western stations and in the lake region this morning.

CARDINALS TO PLAY HIGH TEAM TONIGHT

University Students Will Clash with La Crosse
Basketball Team in School Gym

The game of basketball tonight in the high school gymnasium between the Wisconsin Cardinals and the high school team promises to be one of the best of the season as the Cardinals is one of the fastest teams in the state. They defeated the local normal school some time ago and as the highs have also done the same, a close game can be looked for.

The Cardinals will come here from Menominee where they played last night. The scores of that game and the game tonight will be good basis of comparing the strength of the locals and the Menominee team.

Wiebrecht, Garder and King will in all probability get into the game as this game is being played to get the men into condition for the game with the Madison high school team at Madison a week from tonight.

BELOIT DEFEATS MILWAUKEE TEAM

BELOIT, Wis., March 1.—By taking two bouts out of five on clean falls, drawing two and losing one, Beloit college won a fast hard wrestling match Friday night from a team representing the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A.

Baker, the Beloit welterweight, pinned his man Bries after four minutes of tussling, getting the fall with a headlock and bar arm. After working two falls to dead heats, Burr of Beloit, a featherweight, threw McFarland just as the timekeeper called time.

Jones of Beloit lost to Marquard in a hard struggle. The other two matches were draws. Patches of Milwaukee went against Battersole, and Benson of Milwaukee met Pierce Williams of Beloit.

MIKE DONLIN GOES BACK TO MINORS

NEW YORK, March 1.—Mike Donlin is going to the minors. From his own lips comes information that he will play next season with the Minneapolis club of the American association, where he will be a team mate with Rube Waddell and other former stars of the big circuits.

The veteran of the diamond has lost but little of the speed that made him one of the greatest players in the history of the game; he still has much of the keenness of eye that put him in the top row of sluggers, but—Mike has reached the point, according to his own statements, where he will be of more use in less speedy company. At present he is playing a vaudeville engagement here.

TIGERS WILL PLAY FIRST GAME TODAY

GULFPORT, Miss., March 1.—Manager Jennings divided the Tiger squad into two teams today and made preparations for the first practice game of the season this afternoon. The players were all anxious to get into the real work, but Hughie insisted that the game should go for only five innings. Darkening skies and a slight rainfall this morning hampered practice for the second time since the training began at Gulfport. However, Manager Jennings has decided that conditions here are as good as in any southern training quarters and will bring the Tigers here again in 1914.

FINALS OF MEET TONIGHT

CHICAGO, March 1.—Finals in the Central A. A. U. indoor track and field championships will be run off tonight at the First Regiment armory with the competition narrowed down in most instances to athletes affiliated with the Chicago Athletic association, Wisconsin and Notre Dame university men were in the semi-finals.

Garnett M. Wikoff, former Ohio State university distance man, thus far is the star of the meet. He established a new armory record of 25:46 4-5 for five miles last night, running under the C. A. C. colors.

KONETCHY JOINS TEAM IN GEORGIA

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 1.—That Ed Koney, the Cardinal's big first baseman, believes that Manager Huggins will come across with the money he demands is evident from the fact that he intends to depart for Columbus, Ga., going at his own expense until such time as he signs. "I am going south to work out," said Koney. "Of course I'll talk it over with Hug, and believe we will be able to agree. I'm not worrying, however. The club will have to do that."

The club's rule is that an unsigned player has to pay his own expenses in the south, but when it comes to signing that matter also will have to be settled.

RALLY SAVES CUBS

TAMPA, Fla., March 1.—The third game of the Cub-Cubans series will be played here this afternoon. The Cubs now have a healthy respect for the prowess of the Cubans. It was engendered yesterday when the Cubs were saved from defeat by a seventh inning rally. With the score 4 to 3 against them they took the lead and won 12 to four.

"Get out!" said the squirrel.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Squirrels And Their Maple Tree Party

JACK and Evelyn yawned. "Perhaps," suggested daddy, "I'd better not tell a story tonight. You seem to be sleepy."

"We're never really sleepy until after we've had our story," Jack and Evelyn answered kindly. They wanted to encourage daddy. Then they wondered why he laughed.

"Bobby Chickaree was a little squirrel," said daddy. "He lived in a tree. He was a handsome little fellow with a red coat and a white vest. But, oh, dear, he wasn't popular with his neighbors!"

"The minute Mrs. Bluebird heard he lived in the hollow oak tree by the spring she moved right out of the hickory across the way."

"The robins, after peeping and twittering about the spring, had seen Bobby poke his head out of the hole in the oak tree and had at once given up their notion of building."

"You see, there is a story that red squirrels suck the eggs of their bird neighbors and sometimes even eat the poor baby birds."

"One bright spring day Bobby took a notion to go roaming about through the woods. 'Perhaps I'll find something good to eat,' he said."

"The sap was swelling out the buds of the tree, and here and there Bobby would stop to nibble at a bud. They were fresh and juicy, and he was very fond of them."

"As he leaped from branch to branch he came to a maple tree. About a dozen other red squirrels were there before him. They were all so busy that they did not notice Bobby at first."

"My goodness," chattered Bobby; "what are you doing anyway?"

"You see, some of the squirrels were gnawing at the bark of the tree just as if they wanted to eat it. But he noticed that they had gnawed into the bark on the upper sides of the branches, and a clear watery stuff soon filled the hollow they thus made. The squirrels drank up the sirup, and they seemed to enjoy it so much that Bobby began to gnaw a place for himself."

"Why, it's maple sirup!" he cried in delight.

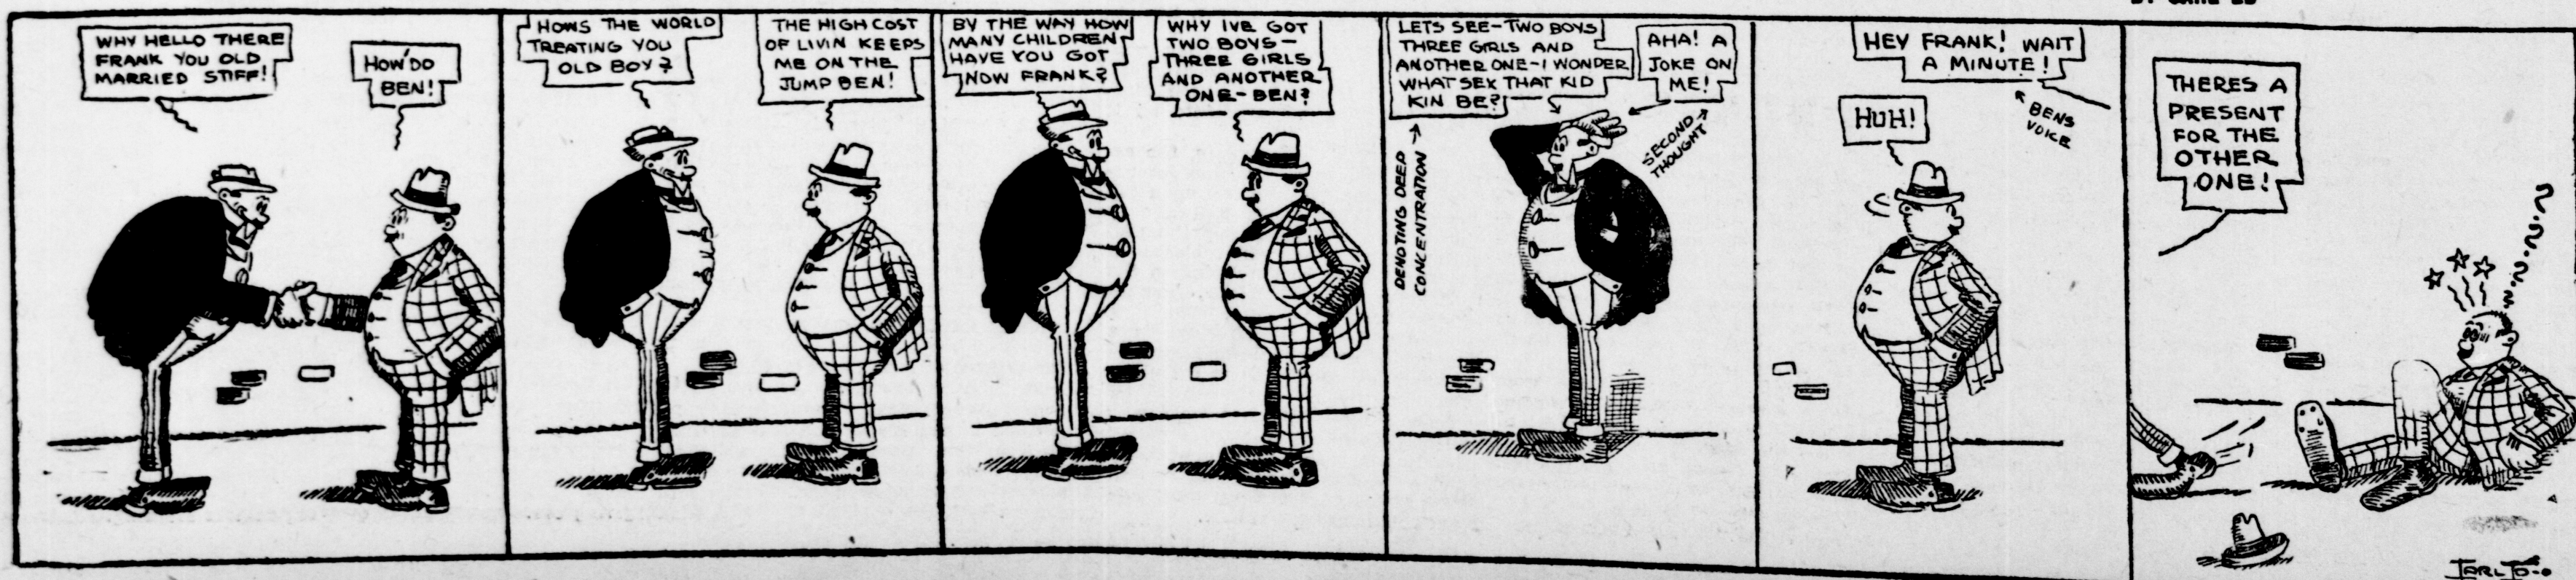

"Suddenly one of the older squirrels looked up. 'Get out of here!' he cried. 'This is my maple tree party. Go and hunt a tree for yourself.' Bobby ran as fast as he could."

"After awhile he did find a maple tree, and as he began to gnaw he heard some birds chattering in the tree top. It was Mrs. Bluebird and Mrs. Robin. They had built their nests there."

"Just then a shrill voice cried, 'Here, get out of this!' and a big jay pounced down and sent Bobby Chickaree scurrying away. He was so mean no one wanted Bobby Chickaree around."

LABOR SHOULD NOT LOSE
BY ITS OWN DEFAULT

There is one law which the labor union men of La Crosse do not always obey. It is SELF PRESERVA-TION, "the first law of nature."

John Mitchell, a famous labor leader, came to La Crosse. His coming was advertised for weeks. He delivered an address on "Trades Unionism" in the State Normal auditorium.

There are approximately TWO THOUSAND trades unionists in La Crosse. About ONE DOZEN attended the Mitchell address.

Upon the following evening less than fifty union men appeared at an informal reception given in order that citizens might have the pleasure of personally shaking hands with Mitchell.

Frank J. Weber, organizer of the State Federation of Labor, came to La Crosse to address union men regarding means of preventing a legislative crime against labor. John Rae made a personal canvass and the event was widely advertised. Of the TWO THOUSAND not more than ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY attended the meeting.

Now it is probably true that not all union men agree with all that Mr. Mitchell says and does; it is probably true that not all union men
agree with everything that Mr.
Weber says and does. But that is no excuse for shirking duty. The foes of labor never rest, but labor goes
to sleep at the switch.

WHY WE GO SLOW
ON FRIEDMANN CURE

The stock in Dr. Friedmann's tuberculosis cure seems to have taken a bound because of his refusal to accept the proposition of Charles E.
Finlay, the New York banker, by which Mr. Finlay proposes to pay Dr.
Friedmann a million dollars provided a fair test showed that the serum would cure ninety-five out of one hundred cases. Dr. Friedmann gave as his reason for his refusal the opinion that such a test would be a financial gamble. In view of the fact that Dr. Friedmann has patented his treatment in practically every civilized country, it is possible to conceive that it may have been lack of confidence in the outcome rather than an aversion to commercialism that inspired the refusal. On the other hand, Dr. Friedmann's submission of his treatment to the United States government that it may be tested is the most reassuring step taken by the scientist. There is a world wide wish of humanity that this treatment may prove to be a cure. What reputable publications and organizations have fought against is the tragedy of leading hundreds of thousands of white plague victims to unconditionally accept the Friedmann "cure" at its face value until there has been scientific corroboration of its efficiency.

WE ARE ALL BOARDING
OUR "FOOL'S GOLD"

A pathetic story comes from a Siberian city of a family of peasants arriving on foot, after traveling 3,000 miles with a wagon filled with a supposed fortune in gold and finding on arrival at the mint that the value of the treasure was only $10. It was "fool's gold."

It would require an extraordinary power of imagination to picture in detail the hopes that were centered
upon that wagon load of supposed gold.

In the shine of the metal that poor peasant family saw reflected a new world. Cold and want and sacrifice and fear were to be theirs no more.
The unspeakable hardships of the 3,- 000 mile journey on foot through Siberian snows and wilds must have been tragical in the extreme, but—
Ah, the journey home again!

That glorious prospect recompensed for everything.

Did the father's shoes wear
through, leaving his bare feet to be cut and bruised by the frozen ground? Well, he would soon have the best boots that money could buy.
The child shivering and crying with the cold was hushed with promises that, forever after, warm clothes would be plentiful, and toys and sweets. The worn mother, with her babe at her breast, forgot her weariness and her woe, dreaming of the days to come when the glitter of the gold would be turned into perpetual sunshine.

Who can tell all the dreams that the poor dare to dream at the prospect of sudden wealth.

The miseries and the grinding toil
and the hopelessness that wealth relieves are so near to them, so constantly with them, that to have them lifted seems to have opened the gates of heaven. They know nothing of the cares wealth brings; they know
only of the cares it relieves.

We shudder with this poor family at the transfiguration moment of their disillusionment, when they learned the awful truth, that they had brought nothing but empty dreams, and must take up the journey back over the same long hard road, with their bleeding feet and their rags and their despair—back to the same old misery.

Yes, we shudder with this poor,
deluded peasant family, but maybe
we had better do some shuddering
for ourselves as well.

How many of us are carrying only "fool's gold" to the mint of death?

How many of us are making our journey of life a hard and a hopeless one, by the load of selfishness, greed and worry we are carrying to the great mint, there to lay it all down as utterly worthless?

We may pity the poor peasant family, but had we not better pity ourselves, too?

GO IT BETSY
GO IT BAR

That a Mexican is a greaser and that a greaser is not human seems to be the rather pessimistic lesson of the revolutions. We have wasted a lot of sympathy upon the people of Mexico. For years they have been mowed down by a military despotism. Within a year after a successful revolt they fall for a palpable trick
which leads them to support a propaganda tantamount to the restoration of the old tyranny and in support of this treason they murder pa-triotists of whose sacrifices they might have been the beneficiaries. In the case of Mexico anarchy seems to have attained the dignity of a governmental system. Could it work out to its logical conclusion, the extermination of its sponsors, it would be quite justified.

Governmental ownership of railroads is a questionable move as a profit-sharing plan. Congressmen would drop the seed and franking privilege and begin issuing tourists'
tickets during campaigns.

A Menominee woman killed a wolf with a broomstick. Let this be a lesson to the young girls of today
who refuse to touch a broomstick under any circumstances.

American correspondent got a bullet in his leg while watching the fighting in Mexico. He's not the first reporter to get "shot" while after a story.

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

At Last
In eighteen hundred and twenty when Jim Purdy was nineteen,
He wrote a comic story for a well known magazine.
The story was accepted by the editor
and when Jim Purdy got the news he was the happiest of men.
He thought of course his story would within a month appear.
But strange to say it didn't get in print at all that year.
Ten years he waited, then he wrote
quite anxiously to learn
The reason, and they told him that his yarn must wait its turn.

He called upon the editor along in sixty-nine.
And was informed his story was still waiting in the line.
He asked for information as to when
it might appear.
They told him that it might perhaps,
come out most any year.
Jim Purdy waited patiently and lost
his teeth and hair.
And bought each issue hoping he would find his story there.
He talked about it all day long and
dreamed of it at night;
His great-grandchildren's children
could not understand him quite.

One day the mail man brought a check, Old Jim pricked up his ears.
'Twas what he had been waiting for night on to ninety years.
That week was sure a lucky one. The magazine came too;
He trembled with excitement as he looked its pages through.
His one hundred and seven years all seemed to leave him when He let a warwhoop out which seemed to make him young again.
'I'll write some more,' he cackled,
as he quite forgot the past.
'I've lived to see the thing in print.
They've published it at last.'

A Transfer
'Among the tenements that lay within my jurisdiction when I first took up mission work on the east side,' says a New York young woman,
'was one to clean out which would have called forth the best efforts of the renovator of the Augean stables. And the families in this tenement were almost as hopeless as the tenement itself.'

'On one occasion I felt distinctly encouraged, however, since I observed that the face of one youngster was actually clean.'

'William,' said I, 'your face is fairly clean; but how did you get such dirty hands?'

'Washin' me face,' said William.
—Judge.

Three Good Reasons
The Rev. John K. Sawyer, author of "As Ye Sow," which ran at the Majestic theater in Boston for some time, was traveling from this state to Scotland. A raw and thick fog came up, which penetrated to the marrow of the passengers on the deck. An acquaintance of Mr. Sawyer's spoke to him and asked: "Wouldn't you like to join me in a little drink?"
'No,' answered Sawyer, 'I'm sorry,
but there are two good reasons
why I cannot take a drink with you.
The first one is that I don't drink.
The second reason is that I have just signed the pledge. A third and most important reason is that I have just had one.'

Distinctions
'I've just found the cutest little apartment, dear Mrs. Van Twiller, three rooms and nine baths.'
'Oh, you lucky thing. I've hunted all over town and only saw one decent one with two rooms and seven baths—another had one room and nine baths, but I was afraid it would be a little too small.'

'Isn't it exciting, the world is moving so quickly! Dear Mrs. Man Twil-ler, when I was only a child, we only had two bathtubs in our whole house!'

'Yes, of course, but now every one can afford an auto, and we must have some mark of distinction! Goodbye, dear Mrs. Feathergill; so glad to have met you.'—The Masses.

Real Uniformity
Col. G— is a fine commander, but not a musician. He sent for the chief musician of his regimental band
one day and delivered this scathing
criticism:
'I notice a lack of uniformity
about the band which must be regulated. Yesterday morning they were out on parade, and the largest man in the band was playing a little bit of an instrument—flute or something of the kind—and you had the big drum played by a small man. That sort of thing doesn't look well, and must be attended to. I want the small men to play small instruments, and the big men the big instruments.
And another thing—I want the trombone players to slide their instruments in and out in unison. It on-noys me to see them all out of step with their hands.'—Everybody's Magazine.

duced to a professor from one of the

the American, and said, "I met one had another professor from Ohio here to visit us."

'But I am from Iowa.'
'Iowa, indeed! How very interesting! I am sure the other gentleman called it Ohio.'—Lippincott's Magazine.

MEXICANS MARAUD;
TAKE TEXAS CATTLE

Gov. O. B. Colquitt.

According to reports that continue to be received by Gov. Colquitt of Texas the condition of affairs upon the Mexican border, particularly along the upper portion for more than five hundred miles, is growing worse. Marauding bands of Mexicans are said to be operating in the Big Bend region, and many cattle and horses have been driven off and other depredations committed.

It was his condition of affairs that aroused Gov. Colquitt and caused his hasty statement that "Texas
troops would be sent across the border to punish the Mexicans unless their depredations ceased."

The New Reason

Discussing the high cost of living,
Henry S. Olipant, a Des Moines banker, said frankly at a banquet:
'The price of a commodity is what it will bring, and, when monopoly is once secured, that price mounts pretty high. Look at oil, look at meat.
'But all this spells prosperity, I said to a trust magnate the other day:
'I suppose your wife goes to church to see what other women are wearing?'

'She used to,' he replied, 'in the foolish old days of competition; but she now goes to let other women see what she is wearing.'"

The Sour Milk Diet

Prof. Metchnikoff (sneaky name to pronounce, but we are never sure about the spelling) in his latest book asserts that with sour milk and its by-products as the chief articles of diet one may defy time and the undertaker and easily live to 200 years of age or thereabouts.

A friend of ours who has given the Metchnikoff bill of fare a month's trial, says that, while 200 years of life on earth may sound like an attractive proposition, if he has got to stick to the sour milk dietary as a steady thing he would be perfectly willing to die at the end of the first 100.—Judge.

The Just and
The Unjust

By Vaughan Kester

"That's a whole lot better," he said.

"Anything more we can do, gentlemen?" asked the undertaker, coming into the room.

"Nothing, thank you," answered
the colonel in a tone of abstraction, and he felt a sense of relief when the officials had gone their way into the night, leaving him and his two companions to their vigil.

Now for the first time they had leisure and opportunity to look about them. It was a poor enough place, all things considered; the furniture was dingy with age and neglect, for Archibald McBride had kept no servant; a worn and faded carpet covered the floor; there was an engraving of Washington Crossing the Delaware and a few old-fashioned woodcuts on the wall; at one side of the room was a desk,
opposite it a rusted sheet-iron stove
in which Watt Harbison was already starting a fire; there was a scant assortment of uncomfortable chairs,
a table, with one leg bandaged, and near the desk an old mahogany davenport.

"This wouldn't have suited you,
eh, Colonel?" said Gilmore at last.
"He could hardly be said to live here, he merely came here to sleep," answered the colonel.

"No, he couldn't have cared for anything but the one thing," said Gilmore. "Were you ever here before, Colonel?" he added.

"Never."
"I don't suppose half a dozen people in the town were ever inside
his door until tonight," said Watt Harbison, speaking for the first time.

Gilmore turned to look at the colonel's nephew as if he had only that moment become aware of his presence. What he saw did not impress him greatly, for young Watt,
save for an unusually large head,
was much like other young men of his class. His speech was soft, his face beardless and his gray eyes
gazed steadily but without curiosity
on, what was for him, an uncluttered world. For the eighteen months that he had been an "attorney and counselor at law" the detail of office rent had been taken care of by the colonel.

"Sort of makes the game he played seem rotten poor sport," commented Gilmore, replying to the nephew but looking at the uncle.

The colonel was silent.

"Who'll come in for his property," asked Watt Harbison.
"Oh, some one will claim that,"
said Gilmore. "They were saying down at the store that once, years ago, a brother of his turned up here
but McBride got rid of him."

"Suppose we have a look around before we settle ourselves for the night," suggested Watt Harbison.
"Will you join us, Colonel?"
asked the gambler.

But the colonel shook his head.
Gilmore took up one of the lamps
as he spoke and opened a door that led into what had evidently once been a dining-room, but it was now only partly furnished; back of this was a kitchen, and beyond the kitchen
a woodshed. Returning to the front of the house, they mounted to the floor above. Here had been the old merchant's bedroom; adjoining it were two smaller rooms, one of which had been used as a place of storage for trunks and boxes and broken bits of furniture; the other room was empty.

"We may as well go back downstairs," said the gambler, halting, lamp in hand, in the center of the empty room.

Harbison nodded, and leading the way to the floor below, they rejoined the colonel in the sitting-room, where they made themselves
as comfortable as possible.
The colonel and his nephew talked in subdued tones, principally of the murdered man; they had no desire to exclude their companion
from the conversation, but Gilmore displayed no interest in what was said. He sat at the colonel's elbow, preoccupied and thoughtful, smoking cigar after cigar. Presently the colonel and his nephew lapsed into silence. Their silence seemed to rouse Gilmore to what was passing about him. He glanced at the elder Harbison.

"You look tired, Colonel," he said. "Why don't you stretch out that lounge yonder and take a nap?"

"I think I shall, Andy, if you and Watt don't mind." And the colonel quitted his chair.

"Better put your coat over you,"
advised the gambler.

He watched the colonel as he made himself comfortable on the lounge, then he lighted a fresh cigar, tilted his chair against the wall and with head thrown back studied the ceiling. Watt Harbison
made one or two tentative attempts at conversation, to which Gilmore briefly responded, then the young fellow also became thoughtful. He fell to watching the gambler's strong profile which the lamp silhouetted against the opposite wall;
then drowsiness completely overcame him and he slept in his chair with his head fallen forward on his breast.

Gilmore, alert and sleepless,
smoked on; he was thinking of Evelyn Langham. After his interview with her husband that afternoon he had gone to his own apartment. His bedroom adjoined North's parlor and through the flimsy lath and plaster partition he had distinctly heard a woman's voice. The sound of that voice and the suspicion it instantly begot added
to his furious hatred of North,

something more than friendship existed between Marshall Langham's wife and Marshall Langham's friend.

"Damn him!" thought the gam-

puffed at his cigar viciously.

He had made sure that North's mysterious visitor was Evelyn Lang-

he himself had followed her. Out of the dregs of his nature this fool-

with Langham's wife, probably she knew him by sight, nothing more;
but still his game, the waiting game
he had been forced to play, was working itself out better than he had even hoped! At last he had Marshall Langham where he wanted him, where he could make him feel cover up those forgeries, and on the basis of silence he would make his bargain with the lawyer.

Sale Continues Until Our Entire Stock of PIANOS Have Been Closed Out

Remember this is the store where every instrument is marked in plain figures and not sold on the hap-hazard get-all-you-can plan. That is why a $3 a day salesman can wait on customers and sell pianos as well as a $35 a day expert, that is why our salesman gets in more good sales than the expert.

Expert piano man, please don't be angry because our men have you beat a mile in the number of piano sales, it is not the salesmen that does it, it is the Bergh Piano Co.'s method of doing business that pleases the piano buying public. That is why the Bergh Piano Co. is doing the bulk of the piano business.

You, piano expert, have no reason for complaint, you got all you were entitled to, you got what you advertised for, all the $2 down and $1 a week customers, we got the rest and we will continue to get the desirable customers, but we have not the kind of pianos to sell that are usually sold on the $2.00 down and $1.00 a week plan!

Sale will continue until all pianos are sold.

Remember here is where everybody is treated alike, and where you get what you pay for.

North Side SLEIGH RIDERS RUN INTO A CAR

Party Has Narrow Escape When Team Is Frightened by Some Boys

While out on a sleigh ride last night at 9:30, Coit Kenyon and a load of young people had a very narrow escape when they ran into a south bound street car.

The party had driven from the south side, and had been out in the country north of the city. They were returning and as they passed Wall street on Caledonia street, they were snowballed by several boys. The horses became frightened and ran away.

They were well away from the street car tracks, until the car which struck them passed, when the horses made a half turn backwards, and then ran headlong into the car. The tongue of the sleigh tore a large hole in the front vestibule.

Several of the party of twenty-two tried to jump to the ground and were on the side of the sleigh when struck. They were thrown to the ground. No one was injured. The party had to go home in the street car.

COUNCIL HOLDS UP CONTRACTORS' PAY

Balance to Be Turned Over when the Street Is Leveled Off in Spring

After half an hour's argument over the method to be used in securing the completion of the Hagar street sewer, the city council last night adopted the recommendation of the committee, that the Thill-Manning-Whalen company, the contractors, be given all but $1,000 of the amount due them, the balance to be paid when the work is completed.

Alderman J. F. Bartl introduced an amendment that the city pay the full amount to the contractors and allow them to put up a bond for the completion of the work by June 1. He said that all that remained to be done was to level off the streets, and that it was impossible to do this in the winter. His amendment was killed when City Attorney A. H. Schubert ruled that it was illegal.

Alderman Adam Kroner introduced an amendment that the city hold back only $500 of the payment, which was lost on a vote.

The council voted to raise the appropriation for an election booth in the Eleventh ward from $500 to $600, the lowest bid being over the first appropriation. The booth will be completed before the coming election.

An ordinance for the grading of the following streets was referred: Nineteenth from Main to State, Twentieth from Main to King and from State to Vine, Twenty-first from King to Pine and Twenty-second from King to Main.

The city attorney was authorized to take legal steps to collect the price of anti-toxin supplied by the health department to O. P. Clement.

A pool license was granted to J. E. Snodgrass, 1800 George street.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 1.—On Feb. 22 Carl Schultz, 83 years old, died at the Milwaukee county almshouse. He had testified that he had no property or money.

On Thursday the dilapidated shack in which he lived near the village of Lisbon was searched by constables. The hut was found to be fairly saturated with gold coins hidden in every conceivable corner and contrivance.

In an old trunk in a corner of the living room was found $1,600 all in bright, new $5, $10 and $50 gold pieces some of mintage as far back as 1880.

In the stovepipe, the mattress, an old lard pail and in backs of pictures additional treasure was found.

Every object the searchers touched seemed alive with gold.

Several $20 gold pieces were found in a dog kennel.

Up to noon on Friday almost $2,000 had been disclosed and the search was still on.

GAVE HIM NEW LIFE

James H. Clark of Lowell, Mass., Says Father John's Medicine Has Done His Throat Trouble More Good Than Anything He Has Ever Taken.

I have suffered all my life from throat troubles and asthma which I inherited from my father.

Sometimes the asthma has been so bad that for weeks I could not go to bed.

About all the money I could earn was spent for doctor's fees, but none of them seemed to do me much good. Since I began to take Father John's Medicine, it has given me new life, and it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I am taking this wonderful medicine right along and am sure that it is going to cure me. All my family takes Father John's Medicine, and we would not be without it in the house. It keeps us well and free from coughs and colds. (Signed) James H. Clark, 440 Central Street, Lowell, Mass.

INSURANCE FIRM DECIDES TO PAY

MADISON, Wis., March 1.—(Special.)—The Northwestern Mutual Life company, Wisconsin's largest insurance corporation, notified Attorney General Owen on Thursday, through its general counsel that it would refuse to pay the state tax assessed against it this year, and would sue in the courts against collection of the alleged excessive amount. On Friday the company called up the attorney general and promised to remit its check (over a half million dollars) today. This change of mind was induced, it is said, by a bill which the attorney general mailed to the company Thursday night. It provides that if a mutual insurance company failed to pay the state tax assessed, no action on a claim for protested taxes of previous years would lie. This company last year paid under protest a tax of about $480,000. A bill is pending to refund it as excessive.

CHICAGO, March 1. — Maroon prospects in the conference games at Madison this spring looked decidedly better today, after a victory over Northwestern in the indoor track meet last night. The score was 55 to 30.

Chicago was strong in the dashes, the weight events, the pole vault and high jump and won the relay. Northwestern annexed the distance events.

There are cards being distributed in the city, referring to my drug store. If you should get a hold of one of them, take good care of it, it is worth 75c in cash to you, because with it and 25c you can get a $1.00 bottle of the celebrated Indian War-Hoo Bitters, so justly renowned for Rheumatism, Blood Disorders, Stomach Troubles and Kidney and Liver Diseases. ### SPOTLIGHTS

Paid in Full

Eugene Walter's four act play of modern American life, "Paid in Full" which has been such a success for over five months in Chicago and two seasons in New York, will be given in this city on Sunday, March 2, matinee and night. The story of "Paid in Full" is said to be virile, appealing, and distinctly original, and to be unfolded by a set of characters that are types of real life, familiar to everyone, and full of human interest. The scenes of the play are laid in New York, and the plot tells of the struggles of a young married couple who live and keep up appearance on a small income.

The Rose-Maid

Little Mizzi Hajos, whom all the atargers fell in love with several years ago when she played here in "A Barnyard Romeo," and whose weird conception of the English language was at once a thing of beauty and something to marvel at, declares that she can now talk "United States" like a native daughter. This she is going to prove when she plays her engagement in "The Rose-Maid" at the La Crosse Theater on Friday, March 7.

Mizzi's only drawback now is that she has assimilated all the slang on this continent and most of her expressive English is generously interspersed with it.

"Gosh," she explains, "I can spike some Anglis, you bet your life. Some class to little Mizzi, eh?" "Oh," she suddenly remembers, "Zat is slang—I should forget that—Zet is rough stuff."

WISCONSIN SCHOOL LEADS THE COUNTRY

It is understood that a definite movement is on at the Minnesota institution to offer instruction in journalism backed by the support of the authorities.

The Pulitzer school of journalism at Columbia university enrolled 72 students this year, the second to Wisconsin, which leads the country.

CASCARETS TONIGHT! IF BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, HEADACHY AND SICK

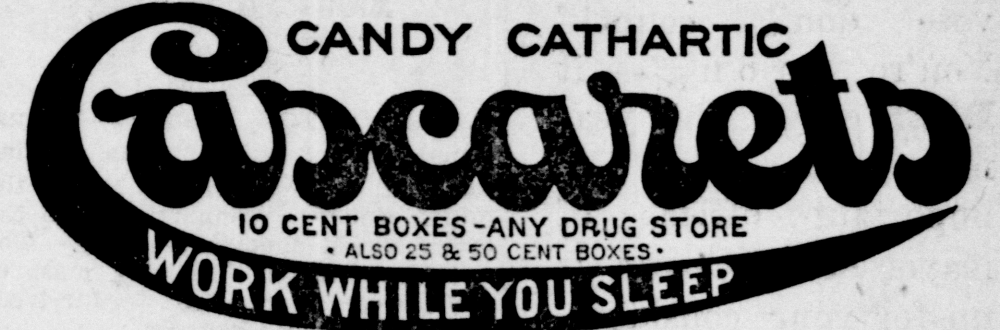

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress—wake up refreshed and feel fine. Let Cascarets cleanse and sweeten your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel cheerful and bully for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

We're traveling mighty fast these days.

All are "on the go." Some sailing up among the clouds. Some riding here below.

Airships surely cover space As they go sailing round.

But the "Indian" and the "Pope" Cover space down on the ground.

Of course, there is a difference Between the ground and air— If you fall from an "Indian" You're safe right then and there.

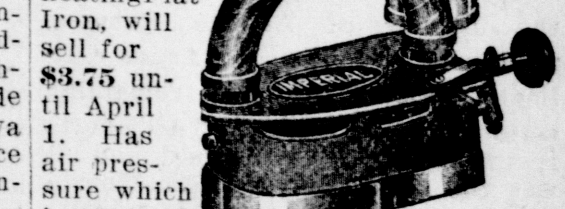

But falling from an airship— You'll find this true, old pard— You're many seconds coming down And the ground is awful hard.

So stick to terra firma. Do your traveling on the ground. Ride an "Indian" or a "Pope"— They're airships on the ground.

BUT ONE REVOLT LEFT IN MEXICO

Fuentes Surrenders and Huerta Is Believed to Have Quelled Uprisings for Present

DENIES U. S. SHOT HURT NATIVES

American Admiral Brands as Lie Story that Shell Struck Near Vera Cruz in Practice

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—With the surrender of Alberto Fuentes, rebellious governor of Aguas Calientes, about the only remaining serious revolt against the Huerta regime today, is in Sonora, and it was the belief of the Diaz-Huerta adherents that the implied endorsement of the Huerta government in a message from Porfirio Diaz would go a long way toward removing all grave opposition to the present government.

Public opinion in the capital is rapidly turning to Porfirio Diaz. The restoration by order of the administration of his pictures to the schools, libraries and public buildings has been greeted with great enthusiasm. The return of the aged ex-president is eagerly awaited by thousands and there are some who confidently predict that Porfirio Diaz again will be president of Mexico. The more conservative, though, think that General Felix Diaz will be president and that his uncle, if he returns, will act only as his nephew's adviser and refuse all official recognition.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Denial of the report that shots from an American war vessel off Vera Cruz, Mexico, had injured several natives on the shore near that city, was made in a cable received by the navy department today from Rear Admiral Fletcher. He said the story had originated from unfounded reports carried in the Vera Cruz newspapers and declared that at the time the battleships under his command were at target practice they were more than twenty-five miles off shore.

TWO ADDED TO POST OFFICE PAY ROLL

Because of the rapidly increasing business caused by the new parcels post, the La Crosse postoffice pay roll has been increased to include one new clerk in the office and one new letter carrier. Mr. Robinson will begin his duties as clerk March 4, and Mr. Tremville will start on a route the same day.

TO SPEAK ON MARRIAGE
An interesting sermon is anticipated tomorrow when Rev. Father Johnson will speak on "Marriage" at the morning services at Christ Episcopal church. "Is Marriage a Civil Contract or a Sacrament?"

WASHINGTON PUTS ON FESTAL ARRAY

City Hides Behind Bunting and Flags in Preparation for Inauguration

THOUSANDS POUR INTO THE CITY

Every Train Unloads Hundreds of Visitors Anxious To See Big Ceremony

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The national capital today began putting the final touches on her March the fourth finery in connection with the inauguration four days away. The city was swathed behind a mass of bunting and flags, tall cedar trees and great waving banners.

Vice President-elect Marshall, who arrived here late Friday afternoon, remained in his apartments at the Shoreham, save for a short drive about the city, awaiting the arrival of President-elect Wilson.

Every train that rushed into Washington today contained thousands of visitors both for the suffrage parade and the inaugural ceremonies.

Down Pennsylvania avenue, along the business streets and everywhere the eye can reach, one sees nothing but great stands and masses of red, white and blue that have literally obscured the buildings. Pennsylvania avenue is particularly gay. It is along this historic thoroughfare that the inaugural parade will pass to and from the capitol.

Hosts of famous people are here. The suffragists have brought hundreds of noted women and more are coming daily. Their pageant on Monday promising to be the most brilliant in the history of the movement, vies with the inaugural ceremonies in interest.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson will arrive in Washington Monday at 3:45.

ARREST ARSON "KING"

ROADHOUSE KEEPER IN NEW YORK HELD AS BRAINS OF FIREBUG BAND WANTED IN CHICAGO

NEW YORK, March 1.—Charged with being the "brains" of one of the most notorious bands of firebugs ever operating in America, John Danies, keeper of a roadhouse in the Bronx, was today committed to jail for thirty days by Magistrate Levy in the center street police court to await the arrival of extradition papers from Chicago. Danies denounced his arrest as an outrage and declared he had never been in Chicago in his life, and that the affidavits filed against him in that city were absolute perjuries.

WAR DAYS' COMRADE VISITS CRONON

Smoke of campfires fifty years old, battles and skirmishes now cherished in the memories of white-haired veterans, and other experiences and adventures shared in common were revived in the office of Municipal Judge Edward Cronon today when William Hall, of Ottertail county, Minn., dropped in for an hour's visit with his old friend and comrade. Both were members of the Eighth Wisconsin infantry, the old Eagle regiment, and what one had forgotten of the war days was remembered by the other. Mr. Hall stopped in La Crosse for a visit with Judge Cronon on his way from Sparta, where he has been visiting a brother. He is on his way to Austin, Minn., where he will look up several old friends in his former home.

GOO GOO MAN IS FAVORITE NUMBER

The Goo Goo Man is probably the most pleasing number in B. C. Whitney's and Boyle Woolfolk's production of the "Isle of Spice," which comes to the Majestic theater, starting Sunday for a stay of seven days. During the long and prosperous career of the "Isle of Spice" this song hit has never failed to elicit from six to twenty-three encores. It is claimed that the latter number is the greatest number of legitimate encores ever demanded in an American theater. This unusual demand of an audience occurred several weeks ago during their stay in Chicago.

THREE WEDDINGS AT THE COURT HOUSE

Three marriage ceremonies were performed in quick succession at the court house this morning when Judge John Brindley tied the nuptial knot for Miss Georgia Webster and William Reynolds of Newton, Iowa, and Miss Katherine Kramer and Gilman Burke of La Crosse. Justice Herman L. Langstad officiated at the third wedding, that of Miss Ellen Thompson of the town of Farmington and Joseph Pishaw of Dickeson, N. D.

MCOCY NOT IN JAIL

Mr. Thomas McCoy of West La Crosse, who was reported in last night's paper as serving a term in the city jail, called the attention of the paper today to the fact that it was in error in this report. He was held in the city jail one night about a week ago at the time Sol Burdick secured papers asking that his children be taken from the custody of their parents. Mr. McCoy was released as soon as the papers were served.

HOTEL FIRE DEATH LIST IS SHRINKING

All Night Digging Recovers Only One Body in the Ruins of Omaha Hostelry

SIX ARE KNOWN TO BE DEAD

It Is Doubtful if More Than Five or Six Bodies Remain in the Debris

OMAHA, Neb., March 1.—Estimates of the number of people who lost their lives in the burning of the Dewey hotel here yesterday began to shrink today when the force of 200 workmen who dug into the ruins all night succeeded in finding only one body. It was the body of a woman, burned beyond recognition.

The body was recovered early this morning after a large part of the debris had been cleared away. The only identifying marks were an earring and a portion of a fur coat. Some thought it might be the body of Mrs. Alice M. Bonniwell, sister of Mrs. C. E. Wilkins, proprietress of the hotel. Mrs. Wilkins is in a hospital, but was still incoherent and physicians said it would be impossible for her to make any identification.

The body of a man recovered late yesterday was identified today as that of Renfree H. Richards, an inspector at the stock yards in Omaha.

Six persons are now known to have perished in the fire. Men directing the work of clearing the ruins today doubted that there were more than five or six bodies still buried under the debris. In some quarters, however, loss of life was still placed at from ten to twenty.

Another squad of 200 men was put to work on the place early this morning and it is thought the wreckage will be cleared up by tonight.

FEEDING NEARLY FATAL

ENGLISH HOME SECRETARY SAYS FORCING FOOD THROUGH SUFFRAGETTE'S NOSE CAUSED SERIOUS ILLNESS

LONDON, March 1.—The controversy between the mayor of Richmond and Home Secretary McKenna concerning the release from Holloway jail of Miss Lillian Lenton, a suffragette, is likely to lead to a thorough official investigation of the process known as forcible feeding, militant leaders and their sympathizers said today.

When Miss Lenton failed to appear in police court for trial on a charge of participation in the burning of the Kew gardens pavilion, the mayor issued a bench warrant for her and was informed that she had been released by the home secretary because forcible feeding had impaired her health. The Richmond official criticized the home secretary caustically, and McKenna came back with a statement that he freed Miss Lenton to save her life.

She was a hunger striker, he said, and starved herself until the prison doctors forcibly fed her through her nose. Septic pneumonia and pleurisy developed and either more starvation or additional forcible feeding would have killed Miss Lenton, the home secretary said he was informed.

GRILL EMPLOYERS WHO STARVE GIRLS

CHICAGO, March 1.—Heads of big Chicago department stores and other large employers of woman labor will be called before the Illinois senate white slave commission and questioned under oath about the salaries they pay girl employees. Lieut. Gov. O'Hara so directed this noon, after the indignation of several senators and members of the white slave commission had been aroused by the pitiful stories of white slave victims, who told of their hopeless struggle to keep body and soul together on wages of $5 or $6 a week.

The names of the girls were not made public. One of them, whose dress barely reached her shoe-tops and who was designated "L. M.," told the commission that no working girl, not living at home, could lead a respectable life in Chicago upon less than $12 per week.

"But what do they do when they are getting only $5 a week?" asked one of the senators.

"Five dollars a week," answered the girl, "why it takes nearly that much for their board. There's only one thing for a girl to do. She has to go out on the street."

LA CROSSE BREAKS EVEN IN DEBATES

High School Wins from Sparta and Loses to Tomah on Income Tax

The negative teams in all of the cities in the quadrangular high school debating league made up of Tomah, Viroqua, Sparta and La Crosse won their sides of the debate on the question, "Resolved, that the Wisconsin income tax law should be repealed (amendment does not argue for repeal.)" This leaves the teams together with this and last year's standings as follows:

|           | Won | Lost | Pct. |
|-----------|-----|------|------|
| Tomah     | 3   | 1    | .750 |
| Viroqua   | 2   | 2    | .500 |
| Sparta    | 2   | 2    | .500 |
| La Crosse | 1   | 3    | .250 |

The locals debated Sparta here last night and after one of the best debates ever given in the city the local team won by a unanimous decision. The Sparta team argued against the tax from the standpoint that the tax is one of inequality, that it was easily evaded and it has not worked here and elsewhere. They failed to substitute something better and it was there that the local debate leader, Webb, found their weakness. He won the debate for the locals by his excellent rebuttal speech in which he clearly showed that the visitors would leave the state without a means of revenue.

The locals had a very well organized debate and delivered it logically, each man doing his share to bring victory to their team. Webb, Anderson and Walker made up the local team and Herbst, Jenkins and Paulsen debated for Sparta. Witcraft, Golberg and Houck, who debated at Tomah, lost by a unanimous decision.

Mr. Staveley Hill, M. P., was at Bushbury paid a peppercorn as rent. The berry was placed in an envelope and handed to Mr. Staveley Hill during a visit he paid to the old village school. ## Peppercorn Rent.

Mr. Staveley Hill, M. P., was at Bushbury paid a peppercorn as rent. The berry was placed in an envelope and handed to Mr. Staveley Hill during a visit he paid to the old village school. In handing over the receipt, he remarked that he was probably the only man in England who received such a payment in kind.—London Telegram.

WEEK FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, March 1.—The weekly actual bank statement, issued today, showed the following changes:

Surplus, decrease $10,483,400.
Loans, increase $11,893,000.
Specie, decrease $8,757,000.
Legals, increase $96,000.
Deposits, increase $8,874,000.
Circulation, increase $55,000.
Surplus reserve, $2,690,250.

NEW YORK, March 1.—No movement of any importance occurred on the stock exchange today. In general prices fluctuated idly with some early fractional losses, but recovered before the close. There was little in the day's news to interest the market; though the week-end reports of the mercantile trade organs indicated some quickening of general business.

After the course of the stock market, in its abrupt reversal of attitude at the moment when the financial atmosphere was apparently darkest, was evidence of the hysterical nature of the preceding decline. The actual character of the situation should be clear enough. The money market is reasonably stringent all over the world; and it is so partly for quite artificial reasons and partly because of legitimate demands of trade. Both here and in Europe there is and has been active demand for capital in general business—with the difference, as between the two continents that in continental Europe the "trade boom" has been in large measure everywhere as in American its general basis seems entirely sound. There has been much nonsense talked in Wall street about Mr. Wilson's public utterances, but there have been some criticisms which from the point of view of real conservatism and honest public spirit, were by no means nonsense. One of them is the criticism that a public man in a position of high responsibility, should not only be sure he is right in his statements regarding matters of finance, but should be sure that the statements are so made as to be susceptible of no misunderstanding.

It is scarcely probable that the report of the "Money trust" committee, given out at a moment when the country's attention is exclusively converged on the approaching installation of the new president and cabinet, will receive any very close or immediate attention from the general public.

REYES WAS MURDERED

MEXICO CITY REFUGEE SAYS MADERISTA OFFICER PUT BALL THROUGH HEAD UNDER FLAG OF TRUCE

NEW YORK, March 1.—That the veteran general Bernardino Reyes was not shot down during the first of the fighting between the rebels and federal troops in front of the palace in Mexico City, but was trapped by treachery and murdered, was the statement today of Senora E. B. Derendon, the English wife of a wealthy Mexican, when she arrived on the steamer Esperanza from Vera Cruz.

"Gen. Reyes did not fall in the first volley before the palace that terrible Sunday morning," he said. "I was living with his relatives that day and heard the details of his murder from his military aide, who avenged the crime. The general was beckoned into one of the palace doors by General Morillo, one of Madero's commanders, who waved a white flag and pretended that General Reyes was wanted to discuss terms of surrender."

"Accompanied by his aide, the old general walked into the doorway. General Morillo instantly placed a revolver at his head and shot him down. The aide then killed Morillo and though shot at by guards and officers, made his escape to the rebel lines."

TO TEST SERUM IN MILWAUKEE

Arrangements Made for Demonstration of White Plague Serum in Wisconsin City

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 1.—Dr. E. W. Kellogg, who went to New York to secure the Friedmann serum for this city, in a wire to Health Commissioner F. A. Kraft today declared that he had made arrangements for demonstrations of the purported white plague remedy here. While his wire does not state what arrangements he has made, it is thought that he has procured promise of a test of the serum in Milwaukee.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—No interference or postponement of the experiments or tests which Dr. Frederick Friedmann has undertaken in New York to prove the efficacy of his tuberculosis treatment will be made by the public health service.

Assistant Surgeon General Rucker said today that on the other hand every effort will be made by the service to expedite and assist Dr. Friedmann. It is planned to designate one or two of the government experts to assist the Berlin physician.

Push Cart Fortune.

The proprietor of the finest cafe in Los Angeles formerly sold "hot tamales" from a push cart, and although he is now wealthy, he still preserves this old vehicle. In erecting a business block to house his modern restaurant he built a cupola just large enough to contain the old tamale cart, and it may be plainly seen from the street.

Little Card Suppers.

TELLS FORMATION OF STEEL TRUST

Vice President of Corporation Relates How Morgan Reconciled the Warring Elements

NEW YORK, March 1.—How all actual competition in the steel trade ended when J. P. Morgan successfully reconciled the warring elements in the industry and welded them into the United States Steel corporation was revealed here today. With James Gayley, for seven years first vice president of the giant trust as the chief witness, former secretary of War Jacob Dickinson, chief counsel for the government in its suit, attempted to show that the trusts should be dissolved, as it violates the anti-trust law.

HE OCCASIONALLY TAKES A "HIGH ONE"

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The social administration of President-elect Wilson will not be "dry" according to information received in Washington today when Gov. Wilson's habits as to indulgence in liquor were made known.

The president-elect is not a teetotaler merely because he is a "high brow" college professor and the son of a minister. He believes in temperance in drinking, as he believes in temperance in eating and in other pursuits. It was learned that President-elect Wilson occasionally indulges in a highball, his choice of whiskey being Scotch, which he takes in a tall glass. At banquets he frequently drinks a glass of wine.

Gov. Wilson has never tried to make any secret of these occasional indulgences, nor has he ever refrained from making his position on the liquor traffic question clear. Soon after he became governor he declared for local option. Whether the Wilsons will serve wine at White House functions cannot be learned.

PREFERS BABIES TO RAIL PRESIDENTS

NEW YORK, March 1.—The company of two babies, a boy of 5 and a girl of 2½, was referred by President-elect Woodrow Wilson to luncheon with a railway president on the turn over from Philadelphia this afternoon. Consequently the children, Frank Greenwood and his sister, Clara, of North Berth, Pa., had the time of their lives and managed to ruffle the governor's hair, muss up his necktie, pull off his glasses and romp with him to their hearts' content, finally kissing him.

Attached to the rear of the train on which the president-elect came over from Philadelphia was the private car of Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania system. He and Gov. Wilson are old acquaintances and when he learned of the distinguished passenger, he went into the Pullman and cordially invited the governor to come into his car where he could have privacy and lunch with him. But the governor courteously declined.

Business Suggestion.

"Why doesn't that line stand at attention?" said the young man at the military parade.

"I suppose," replied his friend, the telephone girl, "it is because the line's busy."—Baltimore American.

Fifty Miles to Market.

It is not an uncommon thing in France to see a farmer forty or fifty miles from home in wet weather with a load. If he sees a prospect of a three days' rain he puts his tarpaulin over his load, a cover over his horses and a waterproof coat on and starts off to market. He may go fifty miles before he finds a market, that suits him, or he may know in advance just where he is going. You do not often see anybody driving fifty miles through a rainstorm in the United States to find a market for a load of hay, but it is not uncommon to see farmers' wagons forty or fifty miles from home in France. They choose the wet weather for that purpose. Their roads are as good then as at any time.

Cholera and Tobacco.

For a long time it has been noted that smokers are relatively immune to certain epidemic sicknesses, especially cholera. Dr. Wenck, professor of the Imperial Institute of Berlin, has found that by manipulating cigars in water containing 1,500,000 cholera bacilli per cubic centimeter the microbes were destroyed in the course of twenty-four hours. The same doctor has proved that tobacco smoke rapidly kills the cholera germ. In a tobacco factory in Hamburg not a single case of cholera was found among the workers during the last great epidemic, though they lived in districts most affected by the plague.—Harper's Weekly.

Grappling Hooks and Thatches.

A curious link with the past is to be seen in St. Bartholomew's church, Great Grandden, England. It takes the form of a huge grappling hook, which, in the days of primitive fire appliances, was used for pulling the entire thatch off the roof of a cottage in the event of fire. The shape is that of a long bar with a turned down fork at the end, the length being sufficient for men on the ground to reach the top of the roof and the weight so great that the strength of several men was necessary in using it.

The Value of Silence.

SQUEEZE WATER FROM BUTTER

CHICAGO, March 1.—Squeezing the water out of butter is one of the most effective ways of reducing the high cost of living; it brings, perhaps more direct results in dollars and cents than squeezing the water out of stocks. Working upon this theory the government is preparing to take the initial steps that are expected to bring about many prosecutions. More than 250,000 pounds of butter in local warehouses was seized recently by revenue officers who charged unlawful adulteration with water moisture.

ENLARGED VEINS

The dilatation or stretching of the walls of the veins in certain localities results in such great expansion or enlargement that in places the veins stand out under the skin, forming knots which vary in size, and cause considerable pain, particularly where the veins affected are the ones surrounding vital parts. There is no other disease of the veins having such a constant and damaging effect on the vitality, such disturbing influence on the nervous system, such devitalizing tendencies.

Every man who has enlarged veins knows that he is afflicted, but sometimes he does not realize that the disease will sap up his vitality and bring on nervous decline. Every sufferer knows in his own heart whether his trouble has developed through overindulgence, or is the result of overwork, injury or other cause; but not many take into consideration that the disease exerts a harmful effect on the mind, because the mental health is necessarily founded on physical health.

Many cases pronounced incurable except by operation will yield to medical treatment. Why neglect that dragging, uneasy sensation and peculiar knotty feeling resembling worms, until your mental and physical condition is such that you are unfit for your work or social duties?

Sufferers from this trouble are offered a means of escape. Why not embrace the opportunity while your case is tractable? Dr. Turbin's powerful treatment brings relief, and the patient feels and knows from the start that he is obtaining benefits. Gradually the vital organs and the entire system take on new life and the gain in strength is steady as the medicines are absorbed, until the thoroughness of the treatment bears fruit in lasting cure.

WILL LAY BARE THAW SCANDAL

New York Grand Jury to Investigate Charges of Bribery to Secure Slayer's Release

NEW YORK, March 1.—The entire Thaw allegations will be probed by the New York county grand jury which will be sworn in by Justice Seabury in the supreme court on Monday. This was made certain following a conference between Justice Seabury and District Attorney Whitman this afternoon. Whitman turned over to the justice all evidence sent him by Governor Sulzer bearing on the bribery allegations. It is expected that among the first witnesses called by the grand jury will be Harry K. Thaw and he will be asked if he has paid money to buy his release and to whom the payments were made.

RUSHFORD MINN

The home of Mrs. Caroline Lee of Brooklyn, was the scene of a very pretty wedding last week, when her daughter, Tilda, became the bride of Mr. Herbert K. McLeod. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Saevig, was witnessed by about fifty relatives and friends. The parlor was prettily decorated with roses and ferns and with the opening strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Hilma Wright, the bridal party took their places. The bride was very daintily gowned in soft white silk, prettily draped and trimmed with oriental lace, her bouquet being white roses. Her sister, Miss Christine Lee, who acted as bridesmaid, was gowned in white voile over pale blue silk. John McLeod, a brother of the groom, was best man. At five o'clock a delicious wedding dinner was served in the dining room. After a short stay in Rushford and vicinity the newlyweds will go to the groom's farm near Tyner, Sask., Canada, to make their future home.

Mrs. Gilbert Gulickson of Amherst; Mrs. John C. Hanson of Preble, and Clara and Hans, who reside upon the old homestead. Mr. Anderson was eighty-three years of age at the time of his death. He was known by all as a loving husband and father and an excellent neighbor. Rev. Magleeson conducted the funeral services and the remains were laid to rest in the Elstad cemetery.

Jerry Moran, an old resident of Winona, passed to his final reward Tuesday morning, Feb. 25th, at the age of sixty-eight years. Mr. Moran had been a resident of Winona since 1856 and was also very well known here in Rushford, where he has a sister, Mrs. McCormick, two nephews, Dan and Will McCormick and a niece, Mrs. John Culhane. He was of a very jolly, hopeful nature and always had a kind word and smile for every one, which traits made for him a very wide circle of friends. The remains were taken to the home of his niece, Mrs. Jas. Martin of 227 West Wabasha street and funeral services were held today at 9:30 from the pro-Cathedral, Rev. Father Griffin officiating. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Removed To 309 Pearl St.

Our business is conducted along modern and progressive lines. We have nothing to do with the kind of methods used by a lot of old fogie piano men that the Sunday papers make funny pictures of. In catering to the piano purchasing public we do not employ any phonograph salesman, automobile chauffeurs or $3 a week clerks. We hire nothing but strictly high grade piano experts that know their business, and by doing this everybody is satisfied, for the simple reason that each and every salesman knows the quality of the piano he is selling and there is no chance of being sold a fake piano with a fake name, as they know all the manufacturers and no mistake can be made.

The writer called on two that would like to be piano merchants yesterday who had advertised Hamilton pianos, one had two, one for $35 and the other $135. One salesman claimed they had been sold, and finally the proprietor came along and said they had not arrived. We took his word for it. When we sized things up a little we decided that they had not arrived and never would. Had this business man been exclusively in the piano business, had piano salesmen that knew their business, advertising men that knew their business instead of amateur chauffeurs, janitors and general help, such things would be eliminated, and this dealer would not have to withdraw from the piano business.

The other dealer advertised one for sale at $150. When we went to his store he denied having advertised any such piano at all, but these kind of methods are still used by a lot of piano dealers, buying cheap pianos. They must advertise something with a reputation to lure people to their store and then try and sell some worthless piano with a worthless name.

From now on we will be located here and will carry a full line of Baldwin made pianos in the latest styles and improvements.

We wish to say that our pianos please the people and our business has been so phenomenal that we have rented space at 309 Pearl street, where our business will continue. We have had sales galore and will continue to have them, but we have not sold 22 pianos in any two days, and if any piano man will prove that he has, we will present him with a $100 bill free of charge; but we think he will have to back water, and we are of the opinion that some of his help has made another mistake that should be eliminated.

We will have the following high grade pianos in stock:

RASH ALMOST COVERED FACE

And Arms. Terrible Itching. Blistery Sores on Arms and Limbs. Could not Sleep. Used Cuticura Remedies. Entirely Rid of All Skin Eruptions.

Warrenville, O.—"I have felt the effects of blood poisoning for eighteen years. I was never without some eruptions on my body. The terrible itching caused me much suffering and discomfort, while the rubbing and scratching made it worse. Last spring I had a terrible breaking out of blistery sores on my arms and limbs. My face and arms were almost covered with rash. I could not sleep and lost nineteen pounds in five weeks. My face was terribly red and sore, and felt as if my skin was on fire. At last I tried a sample of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and I found them so cool, soothing and healing that I got some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Resolvent. I bathed with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then I applied the Cuticura Ointment every night for two months, and I am entirely cured of all skin eruptions." (Signed) Mrs. Kathryn Kraft, Nov. 28, 1911.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of its extreme purity, delicate yet effective medication, and refreshing fragrance. It costs but little more than ordinary soaps, wears to a water and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet, bath and nursery. (Copyright, 1912, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

God's Covenant With Abraham. Gen. xv; xviii:1-8.

Golden Text—He is faithful that promised. Heb. x:23.

(1.) Verse 1—What do you consider was the nature of this vision and the kind of vision with which God spoke?

(2.) Why is it not the privilege of every devout person to see and hear God?

(3.) What is the reason that we rarely hear in these days of people having visions and holding conversations with God?

(4.) Verses 2-4—What had God previously promised Abram concerning his posterity? (See Gen. xiii:15-16.)

(5.) When we have had a promise from God which is a long time in being fulfilled, and there seems no human possibility of it ever being done, is it sinful to doubt? Why?

(6.) In those days children were prayed for and regarded as a great blessing. Why is it not generally the same in these days?

(7.) Verses 5-6—When Abram was worrying because he could not harmonize God's promises with existing facts, God repeated his promises and made them more emphatic. What lesson may we learn from the incident?

(8.) Is belief of God a matter under our own control? Why or why not?

(9.) Why was it that Abram doubted at one moment and had such sublime faith the next?

(10.) Why is belief of God unaccounted to be such a righteous act, and unbelief to be so sinful?

(11.) Verses 7-11—How often may we expect God to really speak with us, taking Abram's experience as a precedent?

(12.) Would you say or not, and why, that God likes to have us ask for proof of his promises?

(13.) When Abram was asking for evidence, why did God tell him to offer up the sacrifice as here stated?

(14.) What influence has worship and sacrifice upon our doubts?

(15.) What are the sacrifices which God demands of us today?

(16.) Verses 12-21—Does God sometimes instruct us in our sleep or during other times when we may be unconscious of Him? Give your reasons.

(17.) How many years actually intervened, and what great events happened to Abram's seed, before they possessed the promised land?

(18.) Chap. xviii:1-8—When is a good man more likely to shine as a Christian—in youth, middle life or old age?

(19.) God commands us to be perfect; is such a commandment keepable or not, and why?

(20.) Why did God change Abram's name to Abraham?

(21.) What was God's covenant with Abraham, and how was it kept?

Stolen Gems from Humor's Crown.

For the Good of the Kitten

Little five year old Mary had seen a baby baptized in church on Sunday. Next day she was seen digging a large hole, and then bringing out a dipper of water from the kitchen. Next she captured her kitten and carried it to the hole. Holding the kitten in one hand, the dipper in the other, she poured some water on the struggling ball of fur and said in a singsong voice, just as the minister had done:

"In the name of the father, and of the son, and in the hole he goes."

Fits the Text

"Johnnie," asks the teacher, "what do you think may be meant by the text, 'Unto him that hath shall be given, while from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath?'"

"Uncle Bill says it means fat, teacher," answers Johnnie. "He says fat folks keep a 'gittin' fatter an' thin ones keep a 'gittin' thinner, in spite of all they do."—Judge's Library.

True to the Guarantee

Jones answered an advertisement and sent $1 for four pairs of socks. When they arrived Jones looked them over and then wrote the advertiser:

"Socks received. The patterns are vile. I wouldn't be seen on the street with them on."

Back came the answer:

"What are you kicking about? Didn't we guarantee that you would not wear them out?"—Magazine of Fun.

The Bald Spot

A child of two years, with bright eyes and a roguish mind, began suddenly to giggle in church one Sunday morning. Noticing the child watching the back of a nodding deacon's head, the mother inquired into the cause of such merriment.

"Oh, mamma," laughed the child, "dat man's head is peekin' out at me through a hole in his hair."—National Monthly.

LOVE LETTERS OF GENERAL PICKETT

THE END IN SIGHT

The final letter of the series was written a few hours before the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox.

It follows:

Tomorrow, my darling, may see our flag furled forever. Jackie, our faithful old mail carrier, goes behind me as I write. He hears tonight this—his last—message from me as "Our Cupid." First he is commissioned with three orders, which I know you will obey as fearlessly as the bravest of your brother soldiers. Keep up a stout heart. Believe that I shall come back to you and know that God reigns. After tonight, you will be my whole command—staff, field officers, men—all. The second commission is only given as a precaution—lest I should not return, or lest for some time I should not be with you. Lee's surrender is imminent. It is finished. Through the suggestion of their commanding officers as many of the men as desire are permitted to cut through and join Johnston's army. The cloud of despair settled over all on the third, when the tidings came to us of the evacuation of Richmond and its partial loss by fire. The homes and families of many of my men were there, and all knew too well that with the fall of our capital the last hope of success was gone. And yet, my beloved, these men as resolutely obeyed the orders of their commanding officers as if we had captured and burned the federal capital.

The horrors of the march from Five Forks to Amelia Courthouse, and thence to Sailor's Creek, beggars all description. For forty-eight hours the man or officer who had a handful of parched corn in his pocket was most fortunate. We reached Sailor's Creek on the morning of the 6th, weary, starving, despairing.

Sheridan was in our front delaying us with his cavalry (as was his custom) until the infantry should swell on our left. Mahone was ordered to move on, and we were ordered to stand still. The movement of Mahone left a gap which increased as he went on. Huger's battalion of artillery, in attempting to cross the gap, was being swept away, when I pushed on with two of my brigades across Sailor's Creek.

We formed line of battle across an open field, holding it against repeated charges of Sheridan's dismounted cavalry. At about 3 o'clock the infantry which Sheridan had been looking for came up, completely hemming us in. Anderson ordered me to draw off my brigades to the rear and to cut our way out in any possible way we could. Wise's brigade was deployed in the rear to assist us, but was charged upon on all sides by the enemy, and though fighting manfully to the last was forced to yield. Two of my brigadiers, Corse and Hunton, were taken prisoners. The other two barely escaped, and my life, by some miracle, was spared. And by another miracle, greater still, I escaped capture. A squadron of the enemy's cavalry was riding down upon us, two of my staff and myself, when a small squad of my men recognized me, and risking their own lives, rallied to our assistance and suddenly delivered a last volley into the faces of the pursuing horsemen, checking them but for a moment. But in that one moment we, by the speed of our horses, made our escape. Ah, my darling, the sacrifice of this little band of men is like unto that which was made on Calvary.

It is finished! Ah, my beloved division! Thousands of men have given up their lives for the cause which they knew to be just. The others, alas! Heart broken, crushed in spirit, are left to mourn its loss. Well, it is practically all over now. We have poured out our blood and suffered untold hardships and privations, all in vain. And now, well, I must not forget, either, that God reigns. Life is given us for the performance of duty, and duty performed is happiness.

It is finished—the suffering, the horrors, the anguish of these last hours of struggle of these men, baptized in battle at Bull Run, in the lines at Yorktown, at Williamsburg, where they, with the Alabama brigade of Wilcox, withstood the advance of the whole of McClellan's army, driving them back at Seven Pines, at Gaines' Mill, Frazier's

CHURCH NEWS

Methodists Are Making Changes

Methodists of the United States are sending $200,000 a year to Europe to do missionary work there in the Methodist name. Of this sum $140,000 a year is going into Sweden and Norway, into Denmark and northern Germany, countries long counted Christian, and themselves doing missionary work elsewhere. About 75,000 Methodists are now in these countries, the outgrowth of American enterprise and zeal. Property worth more than $4,000,000 has been accumulated, in part of course through local contributions. For years amounts given by Americans to these European Christians for advance work has slowly increased, it having been only $125,000 ten years ago.

Now a new plan is to be adopted. Indeed, it is in part entered upon already. It grows out of new conditions in southern Europe, and in Syria and the Holy Land. The Italy work, taking $55,000 a year and having 5,000 members, is to be strengthened but other advance is to be made in Bulgaria, Macedonia, Albania, Asiatic Turkey and in Palestine. Methodists feel that here are far more needy fields than exist in northern Europe, and now that the outcome of the war with Turkey has opened the way they are quick to take up new plans and make the change. Workers will be transferred as fast as possible. Methodists have work in Bulgaria and in Jerusalem. A study of countries captured from the Turk is to be made at once. Education as well as planting new churches will be entered on, and as much effort given to sanitation and health as possible.

Protestants In Mexico

Presbyterian, Episcopal and Methodist churches have large interests among Protestants of Mexico, and they are supported in part by American benevolence. Five years ago a Presbyterian church of Mexico was established, with its own general assembly. In it were united Presbyterians South and North from the United States and such natives as had been gathered. A church of 5,000 members resulted, with a considerable educational system. A mission press with newspaper is established in the City of Mexico.

Christian Progress

Of the Filipinos. Both Catholic and Protestant clergy are in the United States at the moment, some of them in connection with the agitation in congress for Filipino political independence. The Catholic clergy, who are Americans, report that a strenuous controversy goes on at times between the American prelates, with their progressive ideas and ways on the one hand, and the conservative Spanish elements, with their old ways on the other. The task of the Catholic archbishop of Manila, an American by birth, is by no means easy. It is stated, however, that earnest efforts made by the American Catholics are beginning to tell for the better, and that a really remarkable advance is to be seen.

Protestant clergy, here to report and to work for larger financial support, refrain for the most part from expressing opinion whether in their judgment Filipinos ought to be granted political independence or not. They do say, however, that our congress ought to say nothing officially, to the end that Filipinos may know what to expect. Now Filipinos are like boys in school, asked to study but given no notion of when they may graduate, or what they may learn in order to get out of school. The Episcopal bishop has come out against independence at this time. Others go no farther than to urge the United States to declare its purpose, and say they believe such to be about all that is expected at this time by the Filipino leaders who push for freedom.

Farm, Second Manassas, Boonsboro, Sharpsburg, Gettysburg and the end of the line, Fort Garrison, Five Forks and the glorious gift of your love will help me to bear the memory of these days. In this midnight hour I feel the blessing of your pure spirit as it mingles with mine. Peace is born.

Domestic Hints

(From The Scotch-American)

Candle ends, if saved, will come in very useful. Scrape them up into shreds, put in a jar, and melt in the oven; then add enough turpentine to make a soft paste. This is a splendid polish for linoleum, etc.

Screws and nails which have become rusted in wood may be easily removed by allowing a small quantity of kerosene oil to soak into the wood around them. After a day or two they can then be removed quite easily.

A good rule in packing is to place all the heaviest articles, such as boots or shoes, etc., wrapped in paper or enclosed in linen bags, into the bottom of the box or trunk. These should be firmly wedged in with stockings and other small soft goods with the firmness of a mosaic, and this method prevents their being shaken out of place and destroying the freshness of the more dainty contents. Underclothing and everything of that nature should also be folded and pressed down in the bottom, and the interstices should then be filled up with anything in the nature of breakables, tightly wrapped up in soft paper or stockings.

Elopers Lack Gasoline. CHICAGO.—J. H. Grover, speeding in pursuit of his daughter, who eloped with an automobile salesman, found the elopers' car stalled for lack of gasoline. He took the girl back to Mamma.

The Boon of Health Makes Manly Men.

(From Statistic Student.)

Private statistics of a physician with a national practice, indicate that fully fifty per cent of middle-aged men are partly or wholly deficient in ability, manliness and health. If men could only know the meaning of the usual symptoms which presage the oncoming of premature age, many could be saved from misery, despondency and an early grave. Symptoms should not be confounded with disease, but should be accepted as warnings of the approach of disease.

That many may know what to do when such symptoms exist the following symptoms and prescription is published.

A premature break-down of the vitality is indicated by dull, sunken eyes, cold extremities, backache, headache, fatigue, pains in small of back, pains in back of head, spots before the eyes, weakness in spine, twitching and trembling, impaired memory, loss of appetite, wasting, thinness (or abnormal fat), shrunken, flabby flesh, wrinkles, dullness, languor, constipation, kidney disorders, irritability, lack of ambition, timidity, weak-spirited, dragging walk and unmanly carriage.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup of sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardomene), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

THE FIRESIDE SERMON

By Lucius C. Clark, D. D.
Saturday, March first, 1913
I Corinthians, 9, 10

"For our sakes, no doubt, this is written."

As prolific a writer as William Dean Howells must of necessity clarify a good amount of our thinking. Men who set out in order the thoughts they, and others have had, are real contributors to our life asset. The rest of us have thought it, but it was Howells who said: "A man never sees all that his mother has been to him till it's too late to let her know that he sees it."

LOCK IN STRIKERS

PATERSON, N. J., March 1.—Four hundred silk dyers employed in the Weidman Silk company's plant struck today, but when they started to leave the plant the gates were locked and they were informed that they would be compelled to remain until noon. This was done and the strikers marched in a body to strike headquarters, where they were enrolled in the union.

CAPITALIST IS SUICIDE

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 1.—The dead body of Thomas F. Flynn, capitalist and banker, was found in his home today. An open gas jet and a room filled with gas led authorities to consider it a case of suicide. Flynn was recently sued for divorce by his wife and another woman sued him for $5,000 damages on a "love contract" entered into before his marriage.

We are asking you, Mr. BUSINESS MAN or PROPERTY OWNER, to buy an interest in this land of $100 or more. We guarantee to return your money out of the profits we will make by buying this land at acre prices and selling some of it for building lots. We are paying about $300 per acre, and if we only get $200 per lot, there will be a profit of $700 per acre.

Each subscriber will hold an interest and have his money returned out of this profit. This is a safe plan to keep the factories we now have and to get more.

LET US BUY THIS LAND WHILE IT IS CHEAP, so that in the future we will not have to pay such an enormous price as was paid at Beloit.

Why I bought a

Mr. J. E. Zimmer, Mgr.,
La Crosse Motor Car Co.
City.

DEAR SIR:

In reply to your letter asking my opinion of the CADILLAC CARS, will say that I have purchased three CADILLAC CARS since I commenced running an automobile, and will state that in my opinion each successive model was superior to the previous one. My present car is a 1913 model, have been running since October, 1912, and am more than pleased with same. CADILLAC CARS are very economical on gasoline and exceptionally so on oil. My expense for repairs has been nothing on any model. I am especially pleased with the wonderful perfect working of the electric self starter, also the electric light system. Neither of which has caused me the least bit of trouble even in the coldest weather. As this is the only make of car I have ever owned, I am not competent to judge with other makes. I, however, will say the service you render to Cadillac owners adds greatly to the pleasure of owning an automobile. Yours very truly,

GEO. ZEISLER, La Crosse, Wis.

1,000,000 CARS IS 1913 TOTAL

Will Mean One for Every 90 Persons Throughout Country; California Leads

It is peculiarly fitting that the National Automobile show in Madison Square garden and Grand Central palace should be the greatest exhibition of its kind for it heralds the time when 1,000,000 automobiles will be in use in the United States, and what is more important without the slightest indication of any decrease in demand for the wonderful vehicle that has become so important a part of modern civilization.

Almost every state requires automobiles to be registered and the records show almost a million cars at the present time. From this, however, should be deducted the number of cars registered by non-residents, and consideration also should be given to the large number of cars that have changed hands and have been twice registered during 1912. Trade authorities admit, however, that there are now $25,000 cars in actual use in this country, of which 270,000 were made and sold during 1912.

With a conservative estimate of 360,000 cars for 1913, and with the largest part of that number made in the spring, the first of May should see 1,000,000 motor vehicles in actual use for pleasure and utility, which, at an average of $900, would give $900,000,000 as the total selling price.

Although statistics are generally uninteresting, those in connection with the motor car industry are most fascinating, for they mark strides of an industry that has no parallel in history, over reaching, as it does, the records of any other manufacturing business and marching on toward the figures of oil, coal, lumber, steel and raw products.

The figures indicate that in a few months there will be a car for every 90 people in the United States, while an authentic list of manufacturers shows 241 companies producing pleasure cars and 280 companies building commercial vehicles; although many of the latter have not turned out more than a few experimental trucks.

With electric self starters, making it easy for women to operate them, the demand for cars is certain to expand, especially at the remarkable values now in the market as compared with a few years ago when the average car cost $3,000 or more. Greater values will be offered at the shows than ever before, whether in cars at $500 or $5,000.

In 13 years, since the first automobile show was held in Madison Square Garden, the industry has progressed at a rate which cannot be appreciated by any one who has not been in contact with heads of the industry and the great engineers who have shown faith in the ability of the public to buy the vehicle that is now considered a luxury a decade ago.

Contributory to this wonderful advance must be considered the efficient manufacturing, which has made for lower cost, and the present moderate priced car greater simplicity, which permits any one to operate and care for a car, the increased reliability, and, most important of all, the fact that the motor car, like the telephone, the telegraph and the railroad, is a time saver, and as such is essential to our American life.

Registration figures in the various states shows that while New York has the greatest number of cars California leads in cars per of maintaining a racing crew, supplying accessories, etc., and one may say without fear of contradiction that manufacturers have spent more than $2,000,000 in trying to win the blue ribbon trophy of the motor world. This would seem to throw rather a significant light on what value attaches to the Vanderbilt cup in the eyes of those most interested.

In driving a car at high speed over level country the spark should be retarded to nearly dead center upon beginning the ascent of a hill as the engine will slow down.

FOUR YEAR OLD CAR LIKE NEW

Cadillac Sold Second Hand
After Years of Use Is Good for 20 Years
More

According to the ideas of the La Crosse Motor Car company, 127 North Third street, Cadillac dealers in LaCrosse, the way to persuade a prospective purchaser of a second hand car that he is getting a motor car as good as new is to dissect the machine before the eyes of the public so that every minute item in its construction may be seen. Recently this plan was tried out in connection with the sale of a Cadillac by the Kentucky Automobile Co., of Louisville, and proved a sensational success.

A client had purchased a used 1909 Cadillac from this firm in 1911 and in 1913 it was again offered for sale. A would-be purchaser was about to close the deal when a friend raised the point that, being four years old, the machine was worn out. The prospective purchaser put the matter up to the owner, who in turn put it up to the Cadillac dealer from whom it was originally purchased and who had told the buyer that it ought to be good for 20 years. This company was not in the least abashed by the problem. They declared that they would ignore the four years of use and still say it was good for 20 years.

To prove their faith in the car they made a newspaper announcement which included all the correspondence in the case, and declared that the car would be publicly dismantled to the last bolt and nut. Thus anyone who desired could see whether or not the working parts were as good as new, were of high grade steel and gauged to perfect accuracy. It was found that with a total expense of $16 this four-year-old car could be put in condition practically as good as new. The result was that not only was the contention of the company proved, but that several very high grade indorsements were received from engineers and other experts who were greatly impressed by the demonstration.

capita. The final report for 1912 of the secretary of state shows the actual number of cars in New York state to be 106,860, of which 9,955 are commercial vehicles.

California has 84,240 cars registered, or one for each 27 people, while New York has only one for each 141 people, because a large proportion of the population in the big cities cannot afford cars.

Maine, Iowa, Nebraska and Delaware have the largest number of cars for their population, while the southern states, including Virginia, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama and Kentucky, have a comparatively small number of cars per capita, the last named state having only one car for each 602 people. In many of these states it is not so much a question of wealth as poor roads, which offer little inducement for the use of motor cars.

It will surprise many to learn that there are only 36,112 commercial vehicles registered in the United States, the figures indicating in a slight degree the tremendous future of that branch of the industry.

In total car registration New York is the leader with California second and Ohio third, followed by Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan, the last named state being considered the home of the automobile manufacturing industry.

SELF STARTERS FOR AUTO TRUCKS

System Said to Decrease
Cost of Upkeep and Increase Efficiency of Driver

The tendency toward constant improvement in truck design and construction is evidenced by the fact that manufacturers of motor trucks are now adopting the electric starting device. At first glance the self starter appears to be rather a luxurious feature for a truck, but as a matter of fact the adoption of a self-starting device means economy and more efficient delivery service.

Operators Worried
Motor truck operators abroad have been worried about the increasing cost of gasoline. Seeking a means for economizing in gasoline consumption, the plan of equipping trucks with self-starters was thought of and immediately put into force. The results of these tests were almost beyond belief. In a test lasting six days, a 16 H. P., four-cylinder motor truck was able to show a pro rata yearly saving of $145 on gasoline alone. For example, the driver stops the engine every time the truck is halted. This means a saving of gas on 260 revolutions a minute. If the driver stops any length of time, the saving is apparent.

Another consideration is the promptness with which the driver can start, the economy of time and gasoline and the consequent advantages of electric lights which naturally accompany an electric starter. Electric lights give so much brilliancy that faster time can be made at night than with gas lamps, thereby saving carbide, which costs on the average $4 a month for the regulation truck and a saving in fuel made possible by quicker deliveries.

Electric System Needed
An electric system for starting and lighting is necessary to the really complete motor truck. One of the first systems to be adopted by truck builders is the Gray & Davis six-volt electric starter and lighting dynamo. This system is used on a great many pleasure cars and is evidently very efficient. B. A. Gramma's trucks are carrying the Gray & Davis starter, and it is believed that before long a great majority of truck manufacturers will equip with an electric starter on the basis that an electric starter greatly decreases cost of maintenance and increases the efficiency of both driver and truck.

CHEAP INSURANCE
No matter how careful the motorist is, some cold winter night he is going to forget to drain the radiator. A badly frozen radiator is generally beyond repair. Having tried lime chloride, plain salt mixed with ammonia, glycerine and various other mixtures I have found plain denatured alcohol the best.

Lime chloride, salt and ammonia solutions corrode the cylinders. The ammonia evaporates rapidly when the motor gets warm, and for that reason is not dependable.

Glycerine eats the radiator hose. Plain denatured alcohol solution has no bad effects and about one-third alcohol to two-thirds water will resist any temperature safely. Even a weak alcohol solution, say ten per cent, when it freezes makes a slush and not hard ice so that no harm results.

The alcohol evaporates to a certain extent and must be replaced, but $3 worth of denatured alcohol will last all winter and is cheap insurance on a $60 radiator, not to mention cylinders.

Buicks Cost More Than Some But Cost Less Than Any to Run

"I have been a Buick user since 1908, have owned three and have more than got my money's worth every time. The car I have now I have had since April 10. I have run 12,000 miles and except for tires, have spent only $4.60 for repairs."—Archie McConnell, Superintendent German Rock Asphalt & Cement Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
